Item	Notes for the record
2	The Panel received a special medical case claim (ref. 2350-TDWAY-TTTUN-990-ZZ-ZZ-719211).

Decision:	The Panel is of the opinion that, based on the information provided, the levels of noise, vibration and dust likely to be experienced by the Claimant are highly unlikely to materially adversely affect the Claimant's health. The claim is, therefore, not approved .

Item	Notes for the record
3	The Panel received further information from a Claimant (ref. 2350-TDWAY-TTTUN-990-ZZ- ZZ-719209) that the ICP requested on 12 September 2017 (ICP#70).

Decision:	The Panel feels that the most appropriate measure would be temporary rehousing until the acoustic shed is completed, but recognises that there may be difficulties with this award.

Item	Notes for the record
6	The Panel received a special medical case claim for respite during the base plug pour (ref. 2350-TDWAY-TTTUN-990-ZZ-ZZ-719212).

Decision:	The property is substantially shielded from noise related to the base plug pour by the acoustic shed and also the acoustic barrier which will be erected on site to shield noise from idling concrete lorries. On the basis that air conditioning units had previously been supplied to allow windows to remain closed by cooling the rooms prior to the night-time period, the Panel does not consider that there will be significant impacts either during the day or at night such as to require respite accommodation during the base plug pour. The claim is, therefore, not approved .
------------------	---

Item	Notes for the record
7	The Panel received a special medical case claim for overnight respite throughout the period of the base plug pour (ref. 2350-TDWAY-TTTUN-990-ZZ-ZZ-719214).

Decision:	There is no reason to believe that these additional lorries will result in a significant change in air pollutant concentrations. There is, however, the potential for these lorry movements on the road to be noticeable, particularly at night when there will be less non-Tideway traffic around.

	Whilst there are no reported health conditions for the Claimant or any of her family for whom she is claiming respite, on the basis of the precautionary principle, the Panel awards respite in temporary accommodation for the Claimant and her specified family members for a maximum of 96 hours during the base plug pour (in accordance with Tideway’s terms and conditions and on production of receipts) for potential sleep disturbance. In relation to the Claimant’s concerns as to any future health impacts, we do not consider that she, her partner or grandchildren will be exposed to levels of noise or dust from activities associated with the construction site that may present a risk to their health.
